Customer Relationship Tools

Often dealerships have multiple locations and buildings with sales associates, managers and service professionals frequently mobile throughout the facilities and grounds. Overhead paging is distracting to your customers and staff, but calls need to be routed to the appropriate team member.

Solution: Provide your associates with a tool that enables them to control their communications, allowing callers to reach them no matter where they are

Unified Communicator® software enables your staff to stay in control of their communications to facilitate increased sales and customer satisfaction. Your sales, service and management associates can easily create priority call routing rules to control a variety of elements: who reaches them, when they can reach them, and through which device (e.g., handheld, cell phone, office phone, pager).

Inter-Tel's Unified Communicator provides many practical uses for busy professionals such as:

- Automatically forward specific calls to other associates when you're with a customer
- Receive urgent calls from a particular customer or manager—no matter where you are
- Enable or disable routing rules, initiate calls, record customized greetings for individual callers and more via speech recognition or touchtone when you're on-the-move
- Inform your staff of your availability (e.g., at lunch, out of the office, Do-Not-Disturb)
- Access your address book and speed-dial customers, addressing business matters quickly

Often dealerships have multiple locations and properties with sales associates, managers and service professionals frequently mobile throughout those areas. Overhead paging is distracting to your customers and staff, but calls need to be routed to appropriate team members.

Solution: Facilitate the mobility of team members with wireless endpoints

Inter-Tel Model 8601 is a soft phone that runs on Pocket PC Personal Digital Assistant (PDA) platforms, enabling users to stay connected while mobile within an 802.11b wireless network. Users can receive and initiate phone calls, and access system features such as transfer, forward, hold, mute and conference—while away from their desks. Users can receive message waiting alerts, speed-dial numbers, access the call log and quickly retrieve voice mail messages.

- Receive and initiate calls from your wireless handheld while mobile within your facility's 802.11b environment—never miss an important sales or service call
- Connect your prospects to their sales associates without the usual delays associated with a mobile sales force
- Access convenient phone system features such as hold, transfer, forward and conference
- Speed-dial customers and contacts, view a call log of missed calls and quickly retrieve voice mail messages while away from your desk
- Increase the level of customer service you provide by quickly responding to customer needs
- Access pertinent voice and data information while on-the-go

WHAT THEY SAY

"The wireless voice solution, running on the data infrastructure, was another tangible benefit for deploying voice over IP. Most importantly, the solution—combining applications, hardware and wireless—makes us a more responsive and efficient company, which in our business, is the foundation for success."

—Bill Freund, Information Technology Manager for DAA, Draexlmaier Automotive of America (DAA)

Dealership Management Solutions

Automotive dealerships receive a high volume of calls—most of which are customers with routine needs such as scheduling a service appointment. Processing customer calls is extremely time consuming for your administrative staff who have many other responsibilities to attend to.

Solution: Implement a flexible Interactive Voice Response (IVR) application tailored to address your unique business needs

Applications Platform: IVR is a flexible platform that supports customized applications, which can address your business challenges, such as automating call routing to the appropriate department, offering a dealer locator, providing a convenient way to order parts or communicating company information. Implementing an IVR application enables callers to access the information or services they need without tying up your staff. An IVR can ask callers questions, prompting them to enter or speak information that help route their calls to the information they have requested or to a live representative.

Inter-Tel's Application Platform offers rapid return on investment by:

- Increasing employee productivity by eliminating the need for administrative staff to answer repetitive questions or process routine calls
- Providing your customers with 24/7 access to information and services
- Reducing the need to add customer support staff for peak hours
- Routing calls to the appropriate personnel or department

Most dealerships frequently contact a large number of customers to renew leases or schedule service appointments either by sending reminder postcards or making personal phone calls. Whichever method your business chooses, this service often burdens your human and financial resources—resulting in business inefficiencies.

Solution: Automate outbound dialing campaigns to generate more business and provide services with a personal touch

The Campaign Dialer application is a multi-line outbound solution that allows your dealership to run an effective outgoing call campaign, such as calling your customers to renew their leases. The Campaign Dialer application automatically dials a list of numbers from your databases and uses voice detection as the basis for connecting your staff to a call when answered by a live voice. When a call is received, valuable customer information is screen popped to your staff, so calls are handled effectively.

Inter-Tel's Campaign Dialer can enhance your business's bottom line by:

- Automatically dialing outbound call lists to renew leases or schedule service appointments
- Screen-popping called-party information, increasing the efficiency of your staff
- Storing key contact and demographic information for future reference, generating new sales leads

“We were able to seamlessly integrate five different buildings on 20 acres of property to reach our key people: sales, service and managers. These associates are immediately accessible to receive and return calls to both internal and external clientele. Another import factor was to cut down on overhead paging, which can be a distraction during the sales process.”
—Donnie Geron, Administrative Manager, Sewell Lexus, Dallas, TX
